

Amy H. Schwartz, PharmD, BCPS is the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and Professor at the University of South Florida, College of Pharmacy.

Dr. Schwartz began her academic career in 1995 as a faculty member at Midwestern University, Chicago College of Pharmacy. While at Midwestern she developed clinical pharmacy services (cardiovascular risk management) within a multi-specialty physician group practice. In 2001 Dr. Schwartz joined the faculty of Creighton University, School of Pharmacy and Health Professions where she was involved with the development of the Virtual Mentor Program for the newly developed web-based PharmD Pathway.

Dr. Schwartz transitioned to Roseman University in 2003 as the Assistant Dean for Clinical Programs; administrative responsibilities included oversight of experiential education and post-graduate education (including procurement of ACPE continuing education accreditation). In 2006 Dr. Schwartz became the Assistant Dean and Director for the Cooperative Pharmacy Program (CPP), a joint venture between the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley and the University of Texas at Austin College of Pharmacy.

In 2010 Dr. Schwartz joined the inaugural administrative team at the University of South Florida College of Pharmacy as Academic Affairs Dean. Dr. Schwartz oversees the administration of the Doctor of Pharmacy curriculum and programmatic accreditation. Dr. Schwartz also serves as advisor for the BRIDGE Healthcare Clinic, a student-run, interdisciplinary free clinic.

Dr. Schwartz's professional practice experience encompasses a variety of environments including community/retail, hospital, and pharmaceutical industry. Didactic responsibilities have included pharmacotherapeutics (pharmacy, physician assistant and nurse practitioner students), and drug information/literature evaluation. Research interests include the evaluation of clinical pharmacy services, professionalization, and academic program assessment. Dr. Schwartz has pursued several grants throughout her career and is currently involved with a HRSA-funded Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Project.

Dr. Schwartz received her Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy from the University of Pittsburgh School of Pharmacy, and Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Texas at Austin.
